TALANOA

In Fijian: having an open and honest conversation where everyone is involved, shares their stories and opinions, and listens to each other. It's a way to create trust and understanding among people so that they can make good decisions together for everyone's benefit.

Goal: help people and communities prepare for and deal with water shortages caused by climate change.

How: promote strategies that are effective in making a positive impact on society, the economy, and the environment.
